1. What do you enjoy most about your job?

The best part of my job is meeting so many wonderful young people and having the opportunity to work with them and watch those who enroll in the Charleston School of Law grow and mature into successful lawyers. I also am in a position to open a door for an individual to follow a dream; to give them an opportunity, to say "yes" to a deserving and qualified applicant.

2. What do you like most about your law school?

The Charleston School of Law is a great place to work and to go to school. There is a true sense of community among faculty, staff, and students. The school is in downtown Charleston - one of the most beautiful and historic cities in the country.

3. Is there any advice you would give to pre-law advisors as they are working with students in the application process for your law school?

Pre-law advisors should encourage applicants to be wise consumers: ask the right questions; visit law schools; talk to the admission person at the law schools they are interested in attending; talk to students and faculty at the schools they are interested in attending.

4. What are some of the unique opportunities students will find at your law school?

The Charleston School of Law has an outstanding and extensive externship program with more than 120 placement sites ranging from public defender and solicitor's offices to federal district court judges. The school's pro bono program provides another unique opportunity for students. All students at the school are required to do a minimum of 30 hours of pro bono work prior to graduating. Both the externship and pro bono program provide students with practice-ready skills that make them more marketable to future employers.

5. Is there anything you would like to leave with pre-law advisors as a final comment?

THANK YOU! Pre-law advisors serve are a vital link between applicants and law schools. Stay in contact with law school admission people. We are here to help you as well as your students.
